The Department of Economic and Social Affairs of the United Nations Secretariat is a vital interface between global policies in the economic, social and environmental spheres and national action. The Department works in three main interlinked areas: (i) it compiles, generates and analyses a wide range of economic, social and environmental data and information on which States Members of the United Nations draw to review common problems and to take stock of policy options; (ii) it facilitates the negotiations of Member States in many intergovernmental bodies on joint courses of action to address ongoing or emerging global challenges; and (iii) it advises interested Governments on the ways and means of translating policy frameworks developed in United Nations conferences and summits into programmes at the country level and, through technical assistance, helps build national capacities.

NOTE

Symbols of United Nations documents are composed of capital letters combined with figures. The first 14 editions of this publication were issued without series symbols.

I. INTRODUCTION

A. BACKGROUND

1. This is the thirty-ninth issue of National Accounts Statistics: Analysis of Main Aggregates^{1,2} presenting a series of analytical national accounts tables for more than 200 countries and areas of the world. Like the previous issues, it has been prepared by the Statistics Division of the Department for Economic and Social Affairs of the United Nations Secretariat with the generous co-operation of national statistical offices. It is issued in accordance with the recommendation of the Statistical Commission at its first session³ that the Statistics Division should publish regularly the most recent available data on national accounts for as many countries and areas as possible.

2. This publication presents, in the form of analytical tables, a summary of the principal national accounts aggregates. These aggregates, based on official national account data, are supplemented with estimates prepared by the Statistics Division.

3. The National Accounts Statistics: Analysis of Main Aggregates publication is published as the second part of the series of publications on national account data by the Statistics Division. The first part of this series is the National Accounts Statistics: Main Aggregates and Detailed Tables^{4,5}, which shows detailed national accounts statistics provided to the United Nations as official data. Prior to 1982, detailed national accounts statistics and analytical national accounts tables were published as two volumes of a single publication, the Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics.

B. SYSTEM OF NATIONAL ACCOUNTS

4. This publication is the tenth issue based on the United Nations National Accounts Questionnaire (NAQ) introduced in October 1999, which in turn is based on the System of National Accounts 1993 (1993 SNA)⁶.

5. The 1993 SNA was unanimously recommended to the United Nations Economic and Social Council by its Statistical Commission at its 24th session in March 1993. Similar to the recommendation made in 1968 for its predecessor, A System of National Accounts (1968 SNA)⁷, the Council in its resolution 1993/5 of 12 July 1993 recommends that Member States use the 1993 SNA in the international reporting of comparable national accounts data. However, it should be highlighted that the Council went a few steps further in 1993 and also recommends that Member States consider using the 1993 SNA: (a) as the standard for the compilation of their national accounts statistics, (b) to promote the integration of economic and related statistics, and (c) as an analytical tool. In 2003 the Statistical Commission called for an update of the 1993 SNA. The first 17 Chapters of the updated SNA, comprising the accounting rules, the accounts and tables, and their integration was approved by the Statistical Commission in 2008; Chapters 18 to 29, comprising the interpretations and extensions of the accounts and tables of the System, was approved by the Statistical Commission in 2009. The updated SNA, called the System of National Accounts 2008 (2008 SNA)⁸ was finalised in September 2009. It is expected that countries would start compiling national accounts data according to the 2008 SNA by 2010.

6. The national accounts estimates provided in this publication are compiled according to either the 1993 SNA or the 1968 SNA. Specifically, 132 countries, representing an estimated 95.5 per cent of the total world gross national income (GNI) in 2008 and 86 per cent of the world population, had implemented the 1993 SNA.

7. The form and concepts of the statistical tables in the present publication generally conform to the recommendations by the 1993 SNA.

C. SCOPE OF PUBLICATION

8. The tables of the publication include analysis of data on gross domestic product (GDP) by different structural components. The types of analysis presented are classified into four major categories listed below:

I: Analysis of the level of total and per capita GDP

Table 1.A Estimates of gross domestic product in United States dollars by major area, region and country

Table 1.B Estimates of per capita gross domestic product in United States dollars by major area, region and country

II: Analysis of the percentage shares of GDP by type of expenditure and gross value added by kind of economic activity

Table 2 Gross domestic product by type of expenditure

Table 3 Gross value added by kind of economic activity

III: Analysis of economic development expressed in terms of real growth of GDP and its components by type of expenditure and gross value added by kind of economic activity

Table 4 Average rate of growth of gross domestic product by major area, region and country

Table 5.A – 5.E Average rate of growth of components of gross domestic product by type of expenditure

Table 6.A – 6.G Average rate of growth of value added by kind of economic activity

IV: Analysis of price development reflected by implicit price deflators of GDP

Table 7 Implicit price deflators of gross domestic product

9. The analytical tables presented in this publication are based on a homogeneous data series for each country. These data series are based on official data and estimations that have been applied to produce a consistent time series for each country. The design of these data tables facilitates cross-table analysis, as well as, analysis and comparisons of multiple countries or regions.

10. The data provided in this publication, as well as additional analytical data, are available on the web at <http://unstats.un.org/unsd/snaama> or <http://data.un.org>.

D. COLLECTION OF DATA

11. To collect national accounts data, the Statistics Division annually sends the United Nations National Accounts Questionnaire (UN-NAQ) to countries and areas. The countries are requested to provide the latest available national accounts estimates and to indicate where the scope and coverage of the country estimates differ for conceptual or statistical reasons from the definitions and classifications recommended by the 1993 SNA. Data obtained from these replies are supplemented by information gathered from correspondence with national statistical offices and from national source publications. Countries are also requested to provide a brief overview of the sources and methods to compile their national accounts.

12. In order to lighten the reporting burden of countries, UNSD obtains data from the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) and the Caribbean Community (CARICOM) on behalf of their constituents.

E. COMPARABILITY OF THE NATIONAL ESTIMATES

13. Every effort has been made to present the estimates of the various countries or areas in a form designed to facilitate international comparability. To this end, important differences in concept, scope, coverage and classification have been described in the footnotes for individual countries. Such differences should be taken into account to avoid misleading comparisons.

14. Data contained in the tables relate to the calendar year for which they are shown, except in the following cases:

A: Year beginning 1 July, t; ending 30 June, t+1
Australia, Bhutan, Gambia, Nauru, Nicaragua, Pakistan, Puerto Rico and Saudi Arabia

B: Year beginning 1 April, t; ending 31 March, t+1

C: Year beginning 21 March, t; ending 20 March, t+1
Afghanistan and Iran

D: Year beginning 1 July, t-1; ending 30 June, t
Bangladesh, Botswana, Egypt, Swaziland and Tonga

E: Year beginning 8 July, t-1; ending 7 July, t
Ethiopia

F: Year beginning 16 July, t-1; ending 15 July, t
Nepal

G: Year beginning 1 October, t-1; ending 30 September, t

F. NOMENCLATURE

15. The information for the countries and areas shown in this publication reflect what is provided to the Statistics Division as of September 2009.

16. Designations, which have changed in recent years, are as follows:

Hong Kong SAR of China - Pursuant to a Joint Declaration signed on 19 December 1994, the United Kingdom restored Hong Kong to the People's Republic of China with effect from 1 July 1997; the People's Republic of China resumed the exercise of sovereignty over the territory on that date.

Macao SAR of China - Pursuant to a Joint Declaration signed on 13 April 1987, Portugal restored Macao to the People's Republic of China with effect from 20 December 1999; the People's Republic of China resumed the exercise of sovereignty over the territory on that date.

Zaire - All data for the former Zaire are shown under the country name of Democratic Republic of the Congo.

Czech Republic, Slovakia - Data for Czech Republic and Slovakia are shown separately under the appropriate country name. For period prior to 1 January 1993, data for the former Czechoslovakia are shown under the country name Czechoslovakia (Former).

Yugoslavia (Former) - Following the adoption and the promulgation of the Constitutional Charter of Serbia and Montenegro by the Assembly of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia on 4 February 2003, the name of the State of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia was changed to Serbia and Montenegro. All data for former Yugoslavia prior to 1 January 1992 refer to the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia that was then composed of six republics. After that date, when available, data for the republics, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, Slovenia and The Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia are shown separately. On 3 June 2006, Serbia and Montenegro formally dissolved into Montenegro and Serbia which are now shown separately from 1990 onwards. Kosovo, formally part of Serbia, is compiling its own National Accounts Statistics and included as a separate territory in this issue, starting with 1990.

USSR (Former) - In 1991, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics formally dissolved into fifteen independent republics (Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Latvia, Lithuania, Republic of Moldova, Russian Federation, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine and Uzbekistan). When available, data are shown for the individual republics. All data for the former USSR are shown under the country name USSR (Former).

Germany - On October 1990, the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic united to form one sovereign State under the designation Germany.

Yemen - In May 1990, Yemen and Democratic Yemen united to form a single State. Since that date they have been represented as one country with the name "Yemen".

Ethiopia, Eritrea - In 1993 Eritrea separated from Ethiopia to form a new state. Ethiopia refers to Ethiopia excluding Eritrea while Ethiopia (Former) refers to Ethiopia including Eritrea.

G. COUNTRY COVERAGE

17. The 1993 SNA defines economic territory as the relevant geographical area to which the concept of residence is applied. The 1993 SNA also indicates that the economic territory and geographical territory can be different. Within the analytical tables, the economic territory is usually consistent with the geographic territory; the exceptions include:

France - Includes French Guiana, Guadeloupe, Martinique and Réunion.

Cyprus - Excludes Northern Cyprus.

Serbia - Excludes Kosovo and Metohija from 1990 onward.

United Republic of Tanzania - Excludes Zanzibar.

Morocco - Includes Western Sahara.

Indonesia - Excludes East Timor from 1999 onward.

China - Includes Main Land China; excludes Hong-Kong and Macao. China is published in this yearbook in three sections: China; Hong Kong SAR of China; and Macao SAR of China.

H. COUNTRY GROUPINGS

18. There are two types of country groupings (or aggregates) presented in the tables: economic groupings and regional groupings. The tables of GDP and growth rates of GDP (Tables 1, 4, 5 and 6) include aggregations of data by economic and regional groupings as well as individual country data. Countries are presented alphabetically by region. The tables of percentage share of components of GDP and gross value added and the implicit price deflators (Tables 2, 3 and 7) only include individual country data presented alphabetically by region.

19. Standard country and area designations, as well as a basic classification of economic and regional groupings are posted on the United Nations website, <http://mdgs.un.org/unsd/mdg/Host.aspx?Content=Data/RegionalGroupings.htm>. The designations employed and the material in this publication do not imply the expression of any opinion whatsoever on the part of the Secretariat of the United Nations concerning the legal status of any country, territory or area or its authorities, or concerning the delimitation of its frontiers or boundaries. The designation "developed" and "developing" groupings are intended for statistical convenience and do not necessarily express a judgment about the stage reached by a particular country or area in the development process.

II. ESTIMATION METHODS

A. BACKGROUND

1. This section outlines the methodology employed to obtain a complete data series for each country, as well as for computing growth rates, indices and the economic and regional aggregates.

2. A basic description of the methodology related to the compilation of official national accounts data is provided in National Accounts Statistics: Main Aggregates and Detailed Tables. For full details on the 1968, 1993 or 2008 SNA, see A System of National Accounts (1968 SNA), System of National Accounts 1993 (1993 SNA) and System of National Accounts 2008 (2008 SNA).

3. The System of National Accounts (SNA) consists of a coherent, consistent and integrated set of macroeconomic accounts; balance sheets and tables based on a set of internationally agreed concepts, definitions, classifications and accounting rules. It provides a comprehensive accounting framework within which economic data can be compiled and presented in a format that is designed for purposes of economic analysis, decision-taking and policy-making. The accounts themselves present in a condensed way a great mass of detailed information, organized according to economic principles and perceptions, about the working of an economy. They provide a comprehensive and detailed record of the complex economic activities taking place within an economy and of the interaction between the different economic agents, and groups of agents that takes place on markets or elsewhere. In practice the accounts are compiled for a succession of time periods, thus providing a continuing flow of information that is indispensable for the monitoring, analysis and evaluation of the performance of an economy over time. The SNA provides information not only about economic activities, but also about the levels of an economy's productive assets and the wealth of its inhabitants at particular points of time. Finally, the SNA includes an external account that displays the links between an economy and the rest of the world.

B. DATA SOURCES FOR ESTIMATION IN NATIONAL CURRENCY

4. Official data, as reported by countries to the United Nations via the Statistics Division's annual UN-NAQ, are published in the National Accounts Statistics: Main Aggregates and Detailed Tables publication.

5. For many countries a full set of official data is not available, thus estimation procedures are employed to obtain estimates for the entire time series. When full data is not available, a hierarchy of other data sources is used to gather information on the national accounts of a country. The data gathered are then either used directly or estimation procedures are applied to obtain the basic statistics presented in this publication.

B.1 HIERARCHY OF DATA SOURCES

6. If official data are not available, the selection of data sources is based on following hierarchy:

- 1) Official publications and websites of national statistical offices, central banks or relevant government ministries;
- 2) Official statistics disseminated by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) for OECD members;
- 3) Information provided by Permanent Missions to the United Nations;
- 4) Data reported by the statistical offices of other countries;
- 5) Economic surveys and estimates prepared by United Nations' Regional Economic Commissions (i.e. UNECE, ECLAC, ESCAP, UNECA and ESCWA);
- 6) Publications of international organizations with a strong focus on statistical data collection (including regional development banks), the most common sources used are: Eurostat, European Central Bank, South Pacific Community, Asian Development Bank, CARICOM, Afristat, Statistical Committee of the Commonwealth of Independent States, Union Economique Monetaire Ouest Africain (UEMOA), Banque des Etats de l'Afrique Centrale (BEAC), Eastern Caribbean Central Bank (ECCB), African Development Bank, Caribbean Development Bank, ASEAN, Arab Monetary Fund, OECD for non-member countries;
- 7) Estimates and indicators from other international organizations. The most common sources used are: the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the World Bank;

- 8) Publications or websites of specialized groups, the most common sources used are: the Gulf Cooperation Council, the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), the Committee of Central Bank Governors in SADC; the Islamic Development Bank, and the Statistical Training Centre for Islamic Countries;
- 9) Economic data from commercial providers and other sources, the most common sources used are: the Economic Intelligence Unit and the United States Central Intelligence Agency;
- 10) Information from neighbouring countries where no alternative source is available (Switzerland for Liechtenstein; France for Monaco; Italy for San Marino; Spain for Andorra; and some Pacific Islands for other Pacific Islands);
- 11) Documented estimates from other branches of the Statistics Division;
- 12) Undocumented estimates from other branches of the Statistics Division (if no other source is available).

C. BACKCASTING OF OFFICIAL DATA

7. From time to time countries are providing revised data without providing a full historical time series. In these cases the data series are backcasted to derive a single, consistent time series.

8. Official data are often reported as multiple sets of time series versions. Each time series version represents a unique methodology used to compile the national accounts data (for example, a difference between two time series versions could reflect a change in currency, a switch from 1968 SNA to 1993 SNA, redistribution of FISIM, a change in the office responsible for compiling national accounts, etc.). These time series versions may not be comparable, especially when a country has shifted from the 1968 SNA to 1993 SNA.

9. When a single time series version does not exist for the entire period (1970 to $t-1$), then estimation procedures are used to backcast the most recently reported time series version. Backcasting is only performed when time series overlap for at least one year. The overlapping year is used to create a ratio; this ratio is then applied backwards to the previous time series version. Note that if there is a change of fiscal year between two official data time series, the older series are converted to the fiscal year type of the most recent time series prior to backcasting.

10. The same backcasting methods are applied when constant price time series versions include multiple base years or when constant price time series versions are reported as constant prices of the previous year (CPPY). CPPY data are backcasted by using the officially reported current price data and the officially reported constant price data. The data are backcasted into a single series with a fixed base year.

D. ESTIMATION BASED ON SOURCES OTHER THAN OFFICIAL DATA

11. The methods involved in preparing data estimates using sources other than official data include trend extrapolation, using appropriate indices for inflating or deflating relevant data series, and share distribution of GDP. A hierarchical assessment is followed to determine which method should be used. Effort is made to keep data estimation methods consistent from year to year.

D.1 TREND EXTRAPOLATION

12. Trend extrapolation is the most frequent method used for estimating data. The trend from an alternative data source is applied to official data or other estimates by applying the growth rate forward or backward (data sources are used according to the hierarchy described in section B).

13. Trend extrapolation can also be used to form a bridge between two official data series for the purpose of backcasting. This is done when an overlapping year does not exist between two official data time series versions. The alternative source is used to create a time series version that includes an overlapping year with a second official data time series version. The backcasting procedures are then followed using this overlapping year.

14. In some cases there is no source available for some of the years in the estimation period. In these cases the average trend of the five years preceding or following a data item is used to extrapolate a value for a specific year. If there is missing data for the components of GDP for a period of time in the middle of the time series, then half of the missing years are calculated using the preceding five years and the other half are calculated using the following five years (when the gap covers an odd number of years then the middle year is calculated as the average of the preceding and following five years).

D.2 PRICE INDICES

15. In cases when either data at current prices or constant prices are missing, an appropriate price index may be used to deflate or inflate the relevant data to obtain the missing data. This method is applied only when other reliable data sources are not available. Under this method, GDP is deflated or inflated based on a price index and the components of GDP are calculated using the share to GDP.

D.3 SHARE DISTRIBUTION OF GDP

16. Another method for filling in data gaps is to apply the share distribution of GDP. Candidates for this method are countries where official GDP data exist, but data for some or all components are missing. This method requires a secondary data source for GDP and a breakdown of components. If the information is comparable, the share distribution of GDP from the secondary source is applied to the official GDP data. If official GDP values are the same as the GDP values from the secondary source, the values from the secondary source are used.

17. If a secondary source is not available, but some of the years of available data include a breakdown by component, then the average share of the preceding or following five-year period is used to estimate missing data. If there are missing data for the components of GDP for a period of time in the middle of the time series, then half of the missing years are calculated using the preceding five years and the other half are calculated using the following five years (when the gap covers an odd number of years then the middle year is calculated as the average of the preceding and following five years).

E. CONVERSION TO UNITED STATES DOLLARS

23. GDP and per capita GDP data are converted to US dollars using appropriate exchange rates. As a rule, market exchange rates (MERs) obtained from the International Monetary Fund publication, International Financial Statistics are used. These are averages of the market rates communicated to the International Monetary Fund by the monetary authority of each member country or end-of-month quotations in the market of the country. MERs generally consist of three types of rates: a) market rates, determined largely by market forces; b) official rates, determined by government authorities; and c) principal rates, for countries maintaining multiple exchange rates arrangements.

24. When MERs from the International Monetary Fund are not available United Nations operational rates of exchange are used (United Nations operational rates were established for accounting purposes and are used in official transactions of the United Nations). These rates are based on official, commercial and/or tourist rates of exchange.

25. When MERs are not available or create distortions in the data, then price-adjusted rates of exchange (PAREs) are used. The results of the data in US dollars are examined to identify countries for which changes in the per capita GDP in US dollars is not consistent with the economic developments in the country as reflected by the relative movements of domestic and international inflation. To identify these countries GDP per capita and MER valuation index (MVI) of GDP are evaluated.

26. GDP per capita is evaluated using a numerical analysis and visual assessment of graphs. Countries with an annual growth factor of per capita GDP in US dollars more than 50 per cent or less than 33 per cent of the growth factor of World per capita GDP are considered for further analysis of their MER. Graphs of the per capita GDP over time, for each country, are evaluated. The graphs are used to ensure that the numerical analysis has not failed to detect a country for which the employment of the PARE may be needed and to better understand the situation of the PARE candidates identified using the numerical analysis.

27. The MVI is calculated for each country based on the following formula:

Assume,

- r = growth rate of per capita GDP in US$
- P_{US} = price changes in the US
- $E(Y_2)$ = expected per capita GDP (in US$)
- Y_1 = per capita GDP in period 1

Then,

$$E(Y_2) = r \times P_{US} \times Y_1$$

$$MVI = Y_2 / E(Y_2)$$

The MER of countries with an MVI above 1.2 or below 0.8 of World MVI are considered for adjustment. Graphs of the MER valuation index (MVI) are also evaluated to identify candidates for MER replacement.

28. Once possible candidates for adjustment have been identified, each case is carefully considered taking into account the economic situation in each country during the identified period.

29. PARE rates are calculated by applying GDP deflator in National Currency Unit (adjusted for US dollar price changes) to the year closest to the year in question with a realistic GDP per capita US dollars figure (for example, the year after an economic crisis ended). The PARE rate is calculated using the following formula:

Assume,

- x_i = exchange rate for year i c_i = current price data for year i k_i = constant price data for year i d_i = deflator

Then,

$$d_i = \frac{c_i}{k_i}$$

and

$$PARE_i = \frac{x_{t+n}}{\left(\frac{d_i / d_i^{US}}{d_{t+n} / d_{t+n}^{US}} \right)}$$

30. For example: Nicaragua's GDP per capita 1987 was 11300 US dollars, while it was 549 in 1979 and 663 in 1990. Between 1984 and 1989 the country suffered from hyperinflation while MERs were not allowed to adjust adequately to market prices. Using 1990 as a base and applying the PARE rates backwards to 1980 will result in a smooth downward slope of the GDP per capita series with a more plausible value of 740 for 1987, the year in question.

31. Inter-country comparisons of incomes expressed in US dollars should be done with caution. The comparability over time may be distorted due to fluctuations in exchange rates and domestic inflation movements.

F. CONVERSION TO 1990 PRICES

32. Once all data have been compiled in national currency, the constant price data are converted to 1990 prices. Constant price data in national currency are then converted to US dollars using the 1990 exchange rates.

G. ECONOMIC AND REGIONAL AGGREGATES

33. The economic and regional aggregates are defined as the sum of the data in US dollars for the countries, areas and territories within the economic or regional grouping. The growth rates and implicit price deflators are calculated from the economic and regional aggregates, not as an average of the country-level growth rates or implicit price deflators.

H. DATA QUALITY

34. All official data received by the United Nations are checked for errors prior to incorporation in the United Nations official data database. The checking involves ensuring that aggregate indicators are equal to the sum of their components and that indicators which are represented in multiple tables are represented consistently. Footnotes are added to the data when necessary.

35. Similarly, the estimated data in this yearbook are checked for consistency by ensuring that aggregate indicators are equal to the sum of their components and that indicators which are represented in multiple tables are represented consistently. The estimates derived for each year are compared to previous years to ensure that estimates are prepared consistently from year to year. Additionally, the growth rate from year to year is analyzed to identify anomalies in the data.

III. Analytical Tables

A. Estimates of Main National Accounts Aggregates at Current Prices

Description of Analysis in Table 1A and Table 1B

A. Level of total and per capita gross domestic product.

Table 1A and Table 1B present estimates of total and per capita gross domestic product (GDP) expressed in current US dollars. The tables are intended to facilitate international comparisons of levels of income generated in production. Aggregations of data by economic and regional groupings as well as individual country data presented alphabetically by region are shown in rows. The columns list total and per capita GDP in terms of US dollars for the selected ten years 1970, 1980, 1990, 2000 and 2003 through 2008.

Official data and estimates of total and per capita GDP have been converted to US dollars as described in the section II (Estimation methods) of this publication.

For inter-country comparisons over time, it would be more appropriate to use the growth rate information based on constant price data, presented in Table 4 of the present volume, which are more indicative of inter-country and intra-grouping comparisons of development trends of total GDP.

B. Percentage Distribution of Main National Accounts
Aggregates at Current Prices:
Individual Countries or Areas

Description of Analysis in Tables 2 and 3

B. Economic structure expressed in terms of percentage shares of gross domestic product and gross value added.

The tables included in this section of the publication disaggregate GDP and gross value added at current market prices into component parts and express these as percentage shares that outline the different economic structures existing in countries. The years of coverage are 1970, 1975, 1980, 1985, 1990, 1995, and 2000 through 2008.

GDP estimates according to type of expenditure are shown in Table 2 and gross value added by kind of economic activity in Table 3. Differences in the concepts and coverage in classifications used are indicated in the footnotes. Both tables are designed to provide an overview of the structure of the economic system expressed in current prices.

GDP and gross value added estimates of the countries are expressed in millions of the national currency as indicated in the first column of Table 2 and Table 3, respectively. For tabulation purposes, the values of the GDP and gross value added estimates of some countries prior to a high inflation period might be qualified with unit (u) or thousand (t) to reflect the measurement in a single unit or thousand of units of national currency.

Table 2 features the distribution of GDP based on expenditure components. It shows what portion of income is spent by the household sector or by the government on consumption, what is spent on investment, and what revenues are obtained from exports after deducting the expenditures on imports.

It is noted that in some instances the shares for changes in inventories should be used with caution as countries may also include items such as statistical errors.

Table 3 presents the shares of the components of gross value added by kind of economic activity (in terms of ISIC 3):

- Agriculture, hunting, forestry and fishing (ISIC A-B);
- Mining and quarrying, Manufacturing, Electricity, gas and water supply (ISIC C-E)
- Manufacturing (ISIC D) as a separate activity)
- Construction (ISIC F)
- Wholesale and retail trade; repair of motor vehicles, motorcycles and personal and household goods, Hotels and restaurants (ISIC G-H)

- Transport, storage and communications (ISIC I)
- Other activities which includes Financial intermediation, Real estate, renting and business activities, Public administration and defense; compulsory social security, Education, Health and social work, Other community, social and personal service activities, Private households with employed persons (ISIC J-P)

The distributive shares of gross value added are presented from each industry component based on the classification by tabulation category of the International Standard Industrial Classification of all Economic Activitiesⁱ. This table reflects the economic structure of production in the country. For example, it identifies the value-added shares from different sources of production, e.g., oil, gas and other minerals. It also illustrates that many developing countries heavily depend on income mainly originating in agriculture, while relatively more developed countries generate a much larger portion of income in the industrial and services sectors.

Note that the breakdown in shares of GDP in current prices by type of expenditure in Table 2 might not add up to 100 per cent due to statistical discrepancies.

C. Growth Rates of Main National Accounts Aggregates at Constant Prices of 1990

Description of Analysis in Tables 4, 5 and 6

C. Economic development expressed in rates of growth in real terms of gross domestic product and its components.

Tables 4 to 6 reflect trends in economic development expressed as rates of real growth of GDP and its components for the world, developed, developing and transition economies, as well as for individual countries or areas during the period 1970-2008, with 1990 as the base year.

The figures shown in these tables are computed as geometric mean of annual growth rates expressed as percentages for the years and periods of years indicated. The growth rates for the individual countries are based on the estimates of gross domestic product (GDP) at constant 1990 prices and their components by type of expenditure and by kind of economic activity. Table 4 presents growth rates of total GDP and Tables 5 and 6 show growth rates of the principal components of GDP by expenditure and by kind of economic activity, respectively.

The growth rates presented in the tables, however, may not be fully consistent between countries and regions. Their comparability could be affected by the wide variety of base years that are used by countries in the compilation of GDP at constant prices.

The first column of the three tables lists aggregations of data by economic and regional groupings as well as individual country data presented alphabetically by region. The next column in each table highlights the base year weights in 1990 of GDP, representing for individual countries' and sub-regions' weights of their GDP as a percentage of the world. In Tables 5 and 6, an additional third column presents, respectively, the shares of each expenditure and industry components as a percentage of GDP in 1990. The next three columns of the tables contain the growth rates of GDP during the average periods 1970-1979, 1980-1989 and 1990-1999. The remaining columns show the annual rates of growth over the preceding year starting from 2003 through 2008.

Table 5 includes the rates of growth of each expenditure component of GDP as follows: (a) household final consumption expenditure; (b) general government final consumption expenditure; (c) gross fixed capital formation; (d) exports of goods and services; and (e) imports of goods and services.

In deriving the growth rates of the individual expenditure categories by regional and economic groupings, expenditures expressed in US dollars for the base year 1990 were used as weights. Global and regional growth rates for each of the expenditure categories were calculated by adding the expenditures of individual countries in US dollars that were derived by extrapolating the 1990 current price figures by the corresponding growth at constant prices. The expenditure totals of countries expressed in 1990 US dollars were first aggregated according to the economic development region that each belongs and then added up to arrive at the global level.

The country indicators utilized in the calculation were derived from official estimates, in national currency, of gross domestic product by type of expenditure at constant prices. For some countries, the indicator series were obtained by linking together separate series covering the full period.

Table 6 lists the average rates of growth of each economic activity component of GDP: (a) agriculture, hunting, forestry and fishing, (b) mining, manufacturing and utilities, (c) manufacturing, (d) construction, (e) wholesale and retail trade, restaurants and hotels (f) transport, storage and communication and (g) other activities.

The calculation of the growth rates of the separate economic activity categories in table 6 was done in a similar manner as was described above in table 5 for the expenditure components. Value-added data at constant prices for each economic activity group were first compiled from appropriate series of indicators for all countries concerned and combined to form regional and economic grouping totals after conversion to 1990 US dollars.

The country indicators utilized in the calculation were derived from estimates of gross domestic product at constant prices. The source data are absolute figures of product expressed in national currency units. For some countries, the indicators' series were obtained by linking together separate series covering the full period.

Various methods were utilized to obtain indicators for countries where constant price estimates of gross domestic product by kind of economic activity were not available. For example, the national indices of the quantum of production were employed for agriculture, total industrial activity (mining, manufacturing and utilities), manufacturing and, in some cases, for construction. In the absence of a national series for total industrial activity or manufacturing, use was made of indicators based on the world index of industrial production of the Statistics Division of the United Nations Secretariat. In other economic activities, such as agriculture and construction use was made of indices compiled by the World Bank, Asian Development Bank and other international and regional organizations. In the remaining cases, estimates from unofficial sources were utilized or estimated from indicator series prepared by the Statistics Division, generally by deflating related series at current prices with suitable price indices.

The country and regional weights used in the derivation of growth rates of expenditure and activity components of GDP are based on 1990 values expressed in US dollars of that year. In making the conversion and subsequent aggregation to calculate the growth rates, the same exchange rate for 1990 were used for the derivation of growth rates for total GDP (Table 4) as were used in the derivation of the growth rates of its expenditure and activity components shown in Tables 5 and 6.

Description of Analysis In Table 7

D. Price development expressed in terms of indices of implicit price deflators of gross domestic product

This final section of the publication presents an analysis of economic development represented by the movements of prices and exchange rates in relation to economic growth. The period coverage includes the years 1970, 1975, 1980, 1985, 1990, 1995 and 2000 through 2008.

In table 7, indices of GDP at current prices derived from GDP in national currency and US dollars are shown in columns 1 and 2. Column 3 shows an index of the volume of GDP in national currency. Column 4 presents indices of price deflators of GDP in national currency and column 5 includes indices of price deflators of GDP in US dollars. The price indices in columns 4 and 5 are obtained by dividing, respectively, the indices of GDP at current prices in national currencies and in US dollars shown in columns 1 and 2, by the volume indices presented in column 3. Column 6 provides an implied development in exchange rates derived either by dividing the GDP deflators in national currency (column 4) by the GDP deflators in US dollar listed in column 5, or by dividing the GDP indices in national currencies by the United States dollar indices listed in column 1 and 2, respectively.

To determine whether adjustments in exchange rates have been sufficient to reflect inflationary pressures in the economy, exchange rate movements in column 6 are compared with price changes in columns 4 and 5.

The data presented in the table reflect situations in four groups of countries. In the first group, the movement of exchange rates as calculated in column 6 is exactly the same as the movement of domestic prices reflected in the price indices presented in column 4. For these countries, there is no movement over time of the price index in terms of US dollars that is presented in column 5. In this case the growth of GDP in US dollars is not affected by domestic price changes as all domestic price changes have been eliminated through the movement of the exchange rate.

A second group of countries are those having fixed exchange rates. There is no movement of the exchange rates in column 6 i.e., the index always remains 100. In this case all domestic inflation is reflected in the growth of GDP in US dollar terms.

In a third group of countries, the exchange rate index in column 6 is not fixed but lags behind the movement of domestic prices as reflected in the price indices presented in column 4. For this group of countries, the price index in terms of US dollars as presented in column 5 is higher than 100 and the countries' domestic inflation thus affects the growth of GDP in US dollars, though not to the extent that this was the case for countries with a fixed exchange rate. Only some of the domestic inflation is eliminated from the growth of GDP in US dollars through the movement of the exchange rates.

There is a fourth group of countries where the exchange rates overreact to the movements of prices in the domestic economy. For these countries, the index of exchange rates in column 6 is much higher than the price index in terms of national currency in column 4. This case implies that the price index in terms of US dollars as shown in column 5 is lower than 100 and this has the effect that the growth of GDP in US dollars is lower than GDP in national currency.

Again, a note of caution is advised when using the price index information presented in the table. For one, the deflators shown may not be fully comparable between countries because a wide variety of methods had been applied to obtain the data on price movements. To cite an example, for some countries, explicit price indices were used directly in the calculations while for other countries implicit price indices were derived by dividing volume indices into indices of current price development of GDP. Likewise, even as the index numbers are shown for a common base year 1990 = 100, GDP data at constant prices used in the calculations actually have been compiled according to different original weight base periods.
